24 August 1957

Dear General Cabell:

Though I am exceedingly grateful for your kind letter of 22 August, I regret that I am scheduled to be out of Washington at that time.

However, I would like very much for Rear Admiral J. R. Lee, Assistant Chief of Naval Personnel for Personnel Control, and some of his senior detail officers, who work in the area of contact with the CIA, to attend.

It is my understanding that I should include in my invitation from you representatives from our own Office of Naval Intelligence and Marine Corps. I will undertake to arrange such representation of people having a vital interest, and who associate with you from those agencies, if this is correct.

With high esteem and kind regards, my dear General, believe me, I am,

Sincerely,

/s/
J. L. HOLLOWAY, Jr.,
Vice Admiral, U. S. Navy.

Lieutenant General C. P. Cabell, USAF,
Acting Director, Central Intelligence Agency,
Washington 25, D. C.
